

Stark County Democrat.

VOL. 63, NO. 32.

CANTON, OHIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1897.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

NOT HE!

DOC DIDN'T PROPOSE TO GET A BURIAL PERMIT.

He is Coroner of the County and That's Sufficient Evidence That Everything is Perfectly Regular—A Warrant Issued.

Dr. Theodore C. McQuate, coroner of the whole of Stark county, and chief coroner of the Canton City Troop, is in a lot of trouble, simply because, during a rush of business "aiting" and "viewing" he forgot there was a vigilante health department in full operation within the city limits that was prepared to enforce laws for the protection of the public health and for the punishing of those that failed to comply with them.

The big, jovial coroner was recently called upon to view the remains of a homeless, friendless woman, who, tired of life, had ended her existence. No one claimed the remains but a Cleveland medical college, which, under the statutes of the state, was entitled to the body for the furthering of medical science. McQuate, in the largeness of his heart, held the body for several days in the hope of having it claimed by relatives, but none appeared, so he had the remains placed in a coffin, and shipped them to Cleveland. Here is where Mr. McQuate made an error.

It is necessary, under the laws of the state, to obtain a permit before removing a corpse, but the jovial doctor just puffed up a bit and said to himself: "I guess I'm coroner of this here county; will I see the blokes in the health office? Well, I think not." Then he shipped the remains and went to his office satisfied that he was bigger than the health board.

Sanitary Policeman Sell, who can smell a mouse, dead, a mile off, caught on to the coroner's transaction and this morning he filed an affidavit in mayor's court, charging the county official with removing a corpse without a permit. Marshal Reed, armed with the warrant, called at the office in Fourth street, but a cow in the South end had just developed a case of spinal meningitis, from drinking city water, and the hero of a hundred delegations was off to the rescue. He will be arrested tonight, but owing to his exalted job, his sentence will be light. The penalty provided by law is a fine not to exceed $100 and imprisonment not exceeding ninety days. Only for the second offense, however, can the imprisonment be imposed.

Everybody knows that the coroner is prodigal, even to extravagance, in his expenditures, so the mayor will take pity and make his fine the lowest possible amount, so that he may spend the balance with Uncle Jim and the balance of the boys at No. 808.

Doc Pays Up.

Dr. McQuate, removing a corpse for transportation without a lawful permit; waived a jury trial; sentence, $5 and costs, amounting in all to $20; is an entry on the mayor's blotter this morning.

Just as the big gig in the city hall tower sounded the hour of the fire department exercise, at 8:55 o'clock, a big, rosy-cheeked man with a look of despair on his countenance, wandered down Schooner alley in the direction of the police station.

He was unaccompanied with the exception of a slave or two that strangely reminded the passer-by of a calm summer evening among the apple groves of the Sunny South. Arriving at the little market-house on the corner, he threw a hurried glance over his shoulder, felt in his hip pocket for the fabled foot of a graven rabbit in many a game of pennock, and then with renewed courage, hastened up the stone steps of the city hall, entered the mayor's private office, and confronted Elzoner.

"It's me," said the young man with the red cheeks.

"Oh, I'm on to you," replied the chief magistrate. "You're the fellow that tried to do the health department. Your name's McQuate. Good thing, old man, but you're pushing it too strong. What do you say as to whether or not you shipped a corpse to Cleveland without getting a permit from the health department?"

"I don't," answered the mule and colt reared, "but I wish I didn't do it."

The mayor looked long and earnestly at the coroner, and then he gave a nod, and in his full, round, burly voice, composed principally of injured chest notes, he said: "Mac, there is no use trying to get out of this, and $5 and costs will just settle the state's damage."

"Now, look here, Mayor, section 4-11-44 of the revised statutes gives me the privilege of shipping unclaimed bodies and I'll not pay it," said the well posted legal mind from the coroner's office, but his right hand struggled past the graven rabbit's hoof that had failed to save him this time, and he planked down nine big, silver dollars, and with the haughty air of a prize-winner in a cock walk, he left the city hall with a vow that hereafter he wouldn't play in the sanitary policeman's yard and lose a piece of his trousers sliding down the cellar door of the health department. And, further if he catches Jim Sell hollerin' down his rain barrel, there'll be another strange face on the carving board at the Cleveland medical college—and there won't be anybody left to apply to for a permit.

BUSINESS COLLEGE PUPILS

Enjoy a Sleighride and Pass the Evening at a Hospitable Country Home.

The pupils of the Actual Business College together with a few friends, to the number in all of thirty, met at the Y. M. C. A. building Monday night at 6:30 and enjoyed a sleigh-ride. Although the weather was threatening, the party filled Calhoun's sleigh and drove to the country home of John Haldet, some fifteen miles northeast of the city. It was 9:30 when they arrived, and Mr. Haldet was looking for them. The party carried a big bucket of oysters and during the evening a fine supper, of the good old country kind, was served. The evening was spent in cards and dancing to music by Haldet's sons' orchestra, and a good time was had. It was early this morning when the sleighers finally reached Canton again.

WITH A POKER.

C. K. CUNNINGHAM NEARLY KILLS HIS WIFE.

Was Paroled From the Insane Asylum But Becomes Violent Again and Will Probably be Retained—The Woman May Recover.

The list of Stark county murders might have had an addition at Louisville last evening, and it is no fault of C. K. Cunningham, from all reports, that it didn't. During the early part of last fall Deputy Sheriff Stone took Cunningham to Toledo, the Probate court having decided that he was insane. Two months later, at the instigation of friends, he was paroled, and has been living with his family in Louisville. Last evening he became violent, and neighbors, hearing a great noise, went to the house. They found Mrs. Cunningham lying on the floor unconscious with blood flowing from a bad wound on the side of her head. Cunningham had become violent, but was calmed down some at that time. He said he had struck his wife with his fist. A little son said his father had struck his mother with an iron poker. Mrs. Cunningham was unconscious for two hours and is still suffering from the effects of the terrible blow, but will recover. Cunningham will probably be taken back to Toledo.

IMPORTANT TO SUFFERERS.

HOW YOU MAY OBTAIN A LASTING CURE FOR PILES.

No Surgical Operation, No Pain, Trialing Expensive—A Simple, Harmless Remedy, But It Does the Work.

There are some people who have piles as frequently and regularly as other people have colds.

Any little bowel trouble will bring them on, any extra exertion, as in lifting, will produce them, and to fast will often appear without any apparent provocation. Piles, however, are much more serious than a cold, as the tendency is always to grow worse, until the trouble becomes deep-seated and chronic, or develops into some fatal rectal disease.

While there are many pile remedies which give relief, yet there is but one which not only gives instant relief, but at the same time makes a permanent cure, and that is the well known Pyramid Pile Cure.

This remedy is composed of simple, harmless, vegetable ingredients, but combined so effectively and act so promptly and thoroughly that it cures every form of piles, whether internal, blind, bleeding or protruding.

In long standing cases the Pyramid Pile Cure has proven to be the only certain cure except a surgical operation and its advantages over an operation are many, as it is painless, causes no delay, or interference with daily occupation, and last but not least, it is cheaper than any surgical operation could possibly be, costing but a dollar a package at any drug store.

The fact that the Pyramid Pile Cure will not reach as far as physicians are doing away with operations for piles and depending on this cheap but effective remedy to accomplish a complete cure, it never disappoints except in cases beyond the reach of medical skill.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co., of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Each package contains a full and complete set of directions, together with testimonials from every section of this country. (2-4-6-w)

THE COURTS.

QUITE A HEAVY VERDICT RENDERED BY A JURY

In a Case That Was on Trial in Judge McCarthy's Court—An Effort Being Made to Set Aside a Settlement—Other Cases in the Courts.

The case of Hawkins' administrator vs. Tresselt, which was on trial before a jury in Judge McCarthy's room, was ended at noon today. The suit was for a few dollars over $1,359.06, the amount of the judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiff by the jury, and the sum for which suit was brought was a result of two exorbitant rising on a building contract in Alliance. D. E. Rogers and J. W. Crasie represented the plaintiffs, and Ford and Harris the defendant.

At 1 o'clock Mrs. Mary Kurtz, of North Industry, was brought before Judge McCarthy to enter a plea to the indictments to find against her by the recent grand jury for keeping a place for selling liquor in a prohibition township, and for selling liquor to a certain person. Mrs. Kurtz was in tears. She is an elderly woman with a family of eleven children. She pleaded guilty to the first count and promised the judge she would discontinue, whereupon the second count stands on the docket and will only be brought against her in case she does not keep her word. There is a heavy fine and imprisonment for the offense committed, and the very lowest fine he could make was $50 with a jail sentence. Prosecuting Attorney Pomeroy stated to the court that he knew Mrs. Kurtz to be an honest woman, who was never arrested before, and the judge made the sentence as light as possible, $50 and costs of prosecution and five days in the county jail.

The case of Carter vs. A. M. McCarthy, administrator of the Carter estate, was on trial before Judge Taylor, and a jury today. An attempt is being made to set aside a settlement.

A CANTON MAN.

The Agent of the Prudential Life Insurance Company Sends In a Report.

Make a mental note of this. The man who speaks is well known in Canton.

His veracity is unquestioned. You are reading local evidence. Investigating home testimony. Canton news for Canton people. It's not from Maine or Michigan. Suspicion can't lurk around it. Honesty is its prominent characteristic. Home endorsement its salient point.

Mr. W. A. Carpenter, of 145 East 5th street, the bustling and enterprising agent of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., says: "For five years I have had trouble with my kidneys and bladder; a dull, aching pain in my back over the kidneys; nervousness, dizzy spells, head ache, indigestion, gastric trouble in the stomach, frequently griping pain through the bladder; fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I went to a physician and was examined, but they told me my heart itself was all right, nothing functionally wrong, simply a sympathetic affection, and that if my kidneys were all right I could not be troubled. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and after I had taken only a few doses when I had occasion to remark to my wife, how much better I was feeling. I gained rapidly in weight as my trouble was removed, and am now at my normal weight and feel quite strong and well."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, DOAN'S, and take no other.

Teachers' Institute.

The Paria Township Teachers' Institute met in regular session at Sand Hill District No. 2, on last Saturday evening. A roll-call showed that all the teachers were present but two. The minutes of the previous session were read by the secretary, Miss Lillian Simmer, and approved. Mr. William Jones then delivered his valedictory address. Mr. Ed. A. Zinner, the newly-elected chairman, then made a brief speech on taking the chair. Mr. Raymond Haynam, of New Franklin, led the singing of the institute. Several of the scholars of the school gave recitations. Mr. A. T. Snyder gave an interesting talk on the "Nervous System." Mr. Raymond Haynam spoke on the "Responsibility of the Teacher." The topics were further discussed by Ed. A. Zinner and William Jones. W. W. Haynam read an essay on "Narcotics." The essay proved to be the most interesting part of the entire session. About thirty queries were asked and all of them were answered but one. The institute then adjourned to meet in district No. 3, Locust Grove, east of Paris, on Saturday evening, February 20, 1897. I have given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for cough that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, although I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for group and colds in children.—Geo. E. Wolfert, Clerk of the Circuit Court, Ferdinand, Pa. TYPHOID FEVER

Claims Another Victim in the Person of Dr. W. J. McConkey's Son.

Auren McConkey, son of Dr. and Mrs. William J. McConkey, of 639 North Walnut street, died at 1 o'clock this morning after a short illness with typhoid fever. He was but 21 years of age, and was popular among his acquaintances. For some time he has been employed at D. Zellers & Co.'s dry goods store as a clerk. He was affable and possessed those sterling traits of character that promised the splendid future that awaited him. He formerly resided with his parents near Mapleton, but since his residence in this city he acquired numerous friends, who extend their deepest sympathy to the bereaved parents in their hour of trouble. The funeral services will be held at the residence, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Westlawn cemetery.

HIS WISHES.

JUDGE DAY CARRIED THEM TO GOV. BUSHNELL.

The latter confirms this statement in an indirect way—If Bushnell doesn't appoint Hanna it will be a studied affront to Major.

Columbus, O., February 3.—(Special.)—Governor Bushnell was asked today if it were true, as published, that the Sherman letter to him came by way of Canton, that Major McKelley endorsed it, and sent it down by Judge W. R. Day, of Canton, as his special messenger.

"No," said he, "that is a mistake. They have got that a little mixed. The letter did not come by special messenger, but by mail in the regular way, and it did not contain Mr. McKelley's endorsement. Mr. McKelley conveyed his wishes to me in another way."

This is the first time it has been intimated that Governor McKelley has formally asked Governor Bushnell to appoint Mr. Hanna to succeed Sherman in the senate. Judge Day was in the city a short time on the day of legislative reunion, and saw Governor Bushnell at the depot for a few moments. It is evident now that Judge Day came as a special representative of Major McKelley, to convey the Major's wishes that Hanna be appointed.

CATARRHAL BRONCHITIS.

W. T. Rowell, Editor and Publisher of the Clarifying "Independent," Writes.

W. T. Rowell, Clarifying, Ohio, writes as follows: "Permit me, in this connection, to state (unofficially) that your wonderful medicine, Peruna, did for me. I was taken sick last February with catarrhal and bronchitis. My head was in a terrible condition—could neither see nor hear clearly—and my lungs were badly affected by sore throat and sore I could hardly breathe. I coughed almost constantly. For two months I tried other physicians, all the cough medicines I could get hold of, and many other remedies which were recommended to me. About the middle of March I concluded to try Peruna. I had not taken half a bottle until I began to improve. My lungs were relieved of their soreness and tightness, and my cough stopped entirely. I used three bottles of it and was entirely cured, and have felt better ever since, than I had for years."

Bronchitis is catarrh of the bronchial tubes. It sometimes produces pneumonia, to state (unofficially) that your wonderful medicine, Peruna, did for me. Fits of Nervous Exhaustion.

Raymond C. Heckwall, a seventeen-year-old boy, living at 1349 Logan avenue, fell in a faint in the corridor of the post-office this morning. He had just stepped to the money order window to obtain government revenue stamps, when he suddenly collapsed and fell to the floor. He was assisted into Postmaster Menon's office and cared for until the arrival of Dr. E. O. Morrow, who rendered medical attention. He was later removed to his home in a cab. His condition was pronounced due to nervous exhaustion.

A Lucky Chance for the Sick and Suffering.

TOOK ACONITE.

FATAL MISTAKE MADE BY A FORMER CANTONIAN.

Was Suffering With a Cold, Entered a Drug Store, Took a Dose From the Wrong Bottle and Died in Twenty Minutes.

Many Canton people will remember Charles J. Heany, who formerly conducted the barber shop in North Walnut street, next door to Zerba's fish market. Heany has been living in Cleveland for the past four or five years and has been on the road for some time selling cigars for a Cleveland firm. Several Canton dealers handle his cigars.

Heany was in Tiffin yesterday and last night, in pursuit of business. At 10 o'clock he entered Ohl's drug store in that city, while he was suffering with a bad cold. He was familiar with the surroundings and helped himself to what he thought was whiskey. It proved to be aconite, and Heany died twenty minutes later. Relatives were administered, but the doctors failed to save his life. The body is at Undertaker Henry's rooms in Tiffin awaiting orders from Heany's late home. Heany's home was at 15 William street in Cleveland where the body will be shipped.

Several relatives of the deceased lived in Canton but all have moved away from this vicinity save an aunt who resides near Middlebranch.

Has Something to Say to the Readers of the Stark County Democrat.

Editor Democrat: The writer desires to call attention to the fact that, while the late election set for a brief time the question as to who were to fill the various offices, it did not settle in any definite sense the paramount issue of the day, campaign, nor can the issue regarding the financial question be disposed of until a majority of the voters have the wisdom of their opinions endorsed by the evidence afforded by the condition of the business interests of the country. It is apparent to most of us, that the latter is still demanding the intelligent consideration of the voter, and it is not surprising to note that many honest and intelligent men are still engaged in the study of these questions, of so much concern to all. Faith, or if you please, confidence in the promises of those who were seeking to reach the goal of their ambition, is fast ceasing to be a virtue, while much is being seen and experienced to convince every man that a mistake has been made either ignorantly or willfully. And it is not to be wondered at that those who differed with the victorious party should be more than ever convinced of the necessity of affirming their belief in what to them seemed and still seems to be a better solution of the difficulties that beset us. Hence we find earnest and conscientious citizens everywhere who are still engaged in the laudable enterprise of informing themselves and in endeavoring to enlighten others on the most important issue involved, viz: the money question which is believed to be the direct cause of the unhappy situation.

Among the farmers of Stark county who have been trying to enlighten themselves on this subject have given more time or conscientious attention than Mr. Edmund Zinner of Paris township, who few have better at ally at their command in the study and presentation of the subject. It were well that more of the intelligent farmers of this country were alike industrious in acquiring information on a subject so vital to the interests of all, and that the plain, common sense people of this country, seeing their interests, would send them to the halls of legislation to enact laws for the benefit of the whole people and at the same time reset the foul calumny that the rank and file of the people of this country cannot govern themselves without permission from the corporations that exist within it.

QUEER REVENGE.

RUFFIANS SHEAR OFF A WOMAN'S FLOWING HAIR.

Leave Her With the Remark That She Will Hereafter Keep Her Mouth Shut—A Dastardly Outrage Committed Tuesday Evening.

Miss Lettie Beatty, of No. 1012 West Fifth street, was the victim of a dastardly deed, committed by two heartless villains, on one of the principal streets of this city, early Tuesday evening. Miss Beatty, who is well known in Canton, was on her way to her home at 7 o'clock, just returning from a call made to her sister, Mrs. William C. Bernower, who resides on Linden avenue. She was unaccompanied and it was while she was passing along Nexton street, between Second and Third streets, that two men unexpectedly made their appearance from a place of hiding, and grabbed her, one placing his hand over her mouth, at the same time telling her not to scream on penalty of her life, while the other quickly clipped off her hair. Scarcely her hair, one of them said, roughly: "Now, you'll keep your d—n mouth shut." This is taken as an indication that the job was planned, and that it was the result of petty spite. The men then quickly ran away, warning Miss Beatty to make no outcry, and she hurried on to her home. When she entered the door of her house she fell in a faint. The proper remedies were applied and as soon as she recovered she told the story of the attack.

The family notified Marshal Reed and Officer Ryan, and an investigation was made. Miss Beatty could not describe her assailants, however, as it was quite dark, and she was so frightened at the time.

The young lady is about seventeen years of age. She is a handsome woman and possessed a head of beautiful, long, dark hair, and the loss to her is an unfortunate one. It is to be deplored that such heinous deeds can be committed on Canton's streets, and as a rule the perpetrators escape identification and in punishment which they so justly merit. It is hoped the police may yet be successful in bringing them to justice.

INTERESTING EXPERIENCE

Of an Iowa Lady Who Was Cured of Dyspepsia After Suffering for Twenty-Five Years.

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels, an estimable lady residing at Lynnville, Jasper Co., Iowa, was for twenty-five years a sufferer from Dyspepsia, and her complete restoration to health is so remarkable that we present the facts in the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom have doubtless suffered in the same manner and will, therefore, be interested in learning how all stomach troubles may be avoided and cured. Mrs. Skeels says: I used only one package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I received such great and unexpected benefit that I wish to express my sincere gratitude. In fact it has been six months since I took the medicine and I have not had one particle of distress or difficulty since. And all this in the face of the fact that the best doctors I consulted told me my case was incurable as I had suffered for twenty-five years. I want half a dozen packages to distribute among my friends here who are very anxious to try this remedy.

Truly yours,
Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels.

The reason why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so successful in curing indigestion and stomach trouble and the reason why it never disappoints those who need it and use it is because nothing is claimed for it except what it will actually perform. It is not a cure-all and no such claims are made for it. It is prepared for the sole purpose of curing Dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion.

There is scarcely a patent medicine made but what is claimed to cure Dyspepsia as well as a hundred other troubles.

When as a matter of fact a remedy to cure Dyspepsia must be prepared specially for that and nothing else and among all the remedies, patent nostrums, titlers, etc., so extensively advertised you will find that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only one advertised as a cure for Dyspepsia and nothing else. The remedy is prepared by the Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich., and for sale by all druggists at 50 cents per package, and if you suffer from any form of stomach derangement or indigestion, a trial will not disappoint you.

A little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. (1-3-5-w)

The soothing, lung-healing virtues of the newly out pure are all embodied in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, the sovereign remedy for coughs and colds, and lung troubles of all sorts.

THE COURTS.

JURIES AT WORK IN BOTH COURT ROOMS.

Some Cases Disposed of and Others are Yet on Trial—A Case Involving Jurisdiction is Decided by Judge Taylor—Other Court Cases.

The case of Coleman Carter and others against A. M. McCarthy as administrator of the Carter estate, which was on trial before Judge Taylor and a jury yesterday, went to the jury at about 3:30. A verdict for the defendant resulted.

N. K. Bowman has commenced an action against Caroline Wilson and others to collect $76.25 alleged to be due on a promissory note. Judgment for the amount is prayed for.

W. W. Clark recently sued Captain Williams on a note for $3,100. Later Captain Williams assigned. The question as to jurisdiction over the note came up this morning, it being claimed that jurisdiction was with the Probate court. Judge Taylor decided that the Common Pleas court had jurisdiction.

The case of Brown vs. Shumaker and Gharkey, in which plaintiff brought suit to recover $750, alleged due on contract for lumber, is being tried before Judge McCarthy and a jury today.

In room no. 2 the case of Robinson vs. Hair, for $200 claimed due on a deal between the two, was tried before a jury and a verdict found for the defendant.

J. H. Eller has sued James Stripe et al., for a judgment of $10.17, covered by mortgage. Sterling & Wertz are attorneys for Mr. Eller.

CABINET SLATES.

They Are Expected to Resolve Themselves Into Single Slate During the Week.

It is possible that the cabinet of President-elect McKinley will be completed before this week ends. This is the information that was given out by a gentleman, Tuesday, who is in a position to speak knowledgeably. Judge McKelley's declaration is looked upon as final and the cause now given is the delicate health of Mrs. Giff.

Her physician is said to have declared that she could not endure the strain of life in Washington society. Major McKelley is said to be still hopeful that things may shape themselves so that Judge Goff may accept. If, however, he does not, it is believed that H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee, will be invited into the cabinet, for the Major is anxious to favor a Southern man if it can be done.

It is understood that the wishes of Maryland in the selection of their candidate, Mr. Gary, cannot, for certain reasons, be gratified. The opinion also prevails that New York state can have no member in the cabinet at present. General Collins, of New York state, who was here last week, made that statement before leaving. It is stated that the President-elect will favor in his first message to congress, the establishment of a new department of commerce in the cabinet, and that this portfolio will be tendered a New Yorker.

The cabinet today on President-elect McKinley were Judge George Du Rell of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, and James F. Buckner, Jr., and Charles T. Ballard, of Louisville, Ky.; George A. Flood, of Huntington, W. Va.; E. L. Mack, of the Sandusky Register; John Aldison Porter, of Hartford Conn.; ex-Governor A. B. Cornell, of New York and Rev. J. H. Sutherland of New Cumberland, W. Va.

An Arm Broken.

Julius T. Krause, an employee of the Volks-Zeltung Company, is laid up with a broken arm. While walking on Mahoning street, Monday night, he slipped and fell heavily to the pavement. His arm pinned him considerably, but he thought only bruised. Yesterday he was unable to work, and Dr. E. J. Mac's was called. The physician found a bad fracture and reduced it. The patient is resting easily at his home, No. 1251 East Fifth street.
